GOLDEN GATER MOVES TO ANDERSON HALL

Offices of the Golden Gater were moved yesterday afternoon from the basement of Frederic Burk to Room 3 in Anderson Hall. The new quarters, former biology labs which were vacated with the move of the science department to the new campus, have been completely renovated for the newspaper's occupancy.

Simultaneously with the paper's move came the moving of the college's publicity department from its present College Hall site to Room 1 in Anderson Hall. The department is headed by Mr. Ray Doyle.

Placement of the newspaper and the publicity department in adjoining quarters is expected to provide maximum coverage of college activities for both the student newspaper and the downtown papers.

State Takes Role of Iran For Model United Nations

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Scheduled To Address Audience at U. S. C. Meet

San Francisco State students will assume the role of the Iranian delegation at the second annual meeting of the Model United Nations at the University of Southern California, April 3, 4, and 5. Twelve students from the college will make up the State group. Last year the conference met on the Stanford campus. Stanford, the host school, represented the Soviet Union, while San Diego State College took the position of the United States.

ROOSEVELT ADDRESS

This year, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, "first lady of the United Nations," will address the audience of students from 60 colleges in the 11 western states, Hawaii, Alaska and Panama in the opening session. The 60 colleges and universities attending will represent the 60 member nations of the UN.

The delegates will take on the roles of diplomats and representatives of the countries they represent. In each college delegation there will be one student in the native dress from the country represented.

STANFORD AND U. N.

In 1951 Stanford worked in conjunction with the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, a subsidiary of the American Association for the United Nations in sponsoring the conference.

This year, and from now on, the conference will be sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations in collaboration with the Student World Affairs Council.

ALTERNATE SITES

Conferences will meet at a northern college one year and at a southern institution the next year.

D. Jerome Harris, conference director and student at U.S.C., states, "We are combining theory with practice in learning the make-up, problems, and attributes of the vehicle we call the United Nations. We will become more familiar with the techniques in its handling of world problems. As the drafting of the U. S. Constitution opened a new era of united free states, the UN has opened a new era with a concrete plan for a united free world."

Draft Exam. Applications Due March 10

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, today reminded students that applications for the April 24 Selective Service Qualification Test must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 10. Applications are available at any draft board.

Hershey states that of the approximately 340,000 students who took the previous exams, 63 per cent made a score of 70 or over.

The criteria for consideration for deferment as a student at the present time is either a score of 70 or above in the qualification test or class standing among the male members in the upper half of the freshman class, upper two thirds of the sophomore class, or upper three fourths of the junior class. Seniors accepted for admission to a graduate school satisfy the criteria if they are among the upper half of the male members of their senior class, or if they score 75 or better on the qualification test.

Local boards are under no compulsion to comply with the above criteria, but any local board classification is subject to appeal. The appeal must be filed in writing with the local board within 10 days of mailing date of classification.

A score of 70 on the Selective Service Test is comparable to 120 on the Army classification test. Hershey estimates that only 16 per cent of the entire population are capable of attaining such a score.

Mr. Pal Kelemen Schedules Art Lectures Friday

Mr. Pal Kelemen, noted authority on pre-Columbian and other forms of early art, will speak here on Friday, March 7. He is scheduled to make two speeches on this campus. At 10 a.m. Friday in AA6 the world famous author and lecturer will speak on pre-Columbian art to the students enrolled in Humanities 198. According to Dr. Elias Arnesen, chairman of the humanities division of the college, there may be a few extra seats for students or faculty who wish to hear the address then.

At noon on the same day, members of the student body and faculty are invited to hear Mr. Kelemen lecture in AA12 on the subject of Latin American art. Mr. Kelemen, the author of "Medieval American Art" (in two volumes) and "Baroque and Rococo in Latin America," will show slides during his noon talk.

At 1 p.m. Mr. Kelemen will be the guest of honor at an informal luncheon in the faculty dining room.

The donation consists of seven volumes, six on the History of the Church by Joseph Smith, and the seventh a manuscript history of Brigham Young and other original documents. The complete work will be available in a few weeks.

State College President J. Paul Leonard is now in Los Angeles acting as chairman of the Visitation Committee to determine whether or not to accredit George C. Pepperdine University for the teaching credential.

While in Los Angeles, where he will spend one week, President Leonard will make three speeches to the American Association of School Administrators. He will also attend board meetings of the California Council of Teacher Education and Accreditation Committee of the Western College Association.

Elementary Teacher Exam Scheduled For March 22

The Spring examination for elementary teacher candidate in the San Francisco schools is scheduled for March 22, at the High School of Commerce at 9 a.m., the placement office announced recently.

All applicants must take the written and oral examinations. The personnel board of the San Francisco schools requires that everyone must file a set of placement papers two or three weeks before the examination in order to allow for the compiling of the necessary recommendations. The placement papers must consist of letters of recommendation and pictures of the candidate.

The placement office requests that those students interested in taking this examination register immediately. For further details regarding the examination refer to the bulletin board outside CH114.

The placement office also requested that all students who desire part-time typing jobs register immediately.

Davis Elected S. A. E. Prexy

Jim Davis was recently elected president of Sigma Alpha Eta, men's honorary fraternity. Other officers elected included Douglas Usedom, vice president; Ed Simons, treasurer; Mort Kofman, recording secretary; and Walt Kintz, corresponding secretary.

The organization is currently working on plans for Sigma Alpha Eta Day, which is now scheduled for mid-May.

Seeds For Democracy Opens Drive

The third nation-wide drive asking Americans to contribute vegetable seeds fo distribution throughout the Philippine Islands will be launched here March 3 by the Committee for Free Asia.

Alan Valentine, committee president, announced that the drive will continue through June 3, with a goal of "at least one million individual packets of vegetable seeds."

Committee for Free Asia, a nonprofit, privately operated group, was organized to work with the people of Asia in strengthening individual and national freedom in the Far East. It is financed by the American public through contributions to the Crusade for Freedom.

The Seeds for Democracy drive is intended to help Filipinos ease a continuing inadequacy in food production and at the same time help to stiffen Philippine resistance to communism.

All categories of seeds are needed. The packets of seeds may be mailed, in any container which meets U. S. postal regulations for domestic mail, to Seeds for Democracy, San Francisco 11, California.

Last year this drive resulted in 511,778 packets of seeds going from Americans to Filipinos. Each 10 cent package of seeds is the equivalent in the Philippines of $10 worth of food added to the diet of the average Filipino family.

The 1952 Seeds for Democracy drive has the active support and participation of such groups as Boys' Clubs of America, Chambers of Commerce, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Garden Clubs, and seed organizations. Many newspapers and radio stations in major cities will act as local sponsors in their communities.

Cities and towns throughout the country are planning to "adopt" a comparable size area in the Philippines and will make a local civic enterprise with every resident participating on a "package a person" basis.

All contributions will be acknowledged by the committee. Contributors are invited to include with each seed packet a personal message to a Filipino.

Dangerous Guessing Games

We had somewhat of a problem on this campus last Friday morning. Shortly before 11 a.m., while students were in the process of going to their classes, there came the bellowing of a deep-throated siren.

It was the same siren that had sounded during the city-wide air raid drill over a week ago. Many students thought this was another air raid warning, and, following previous directions, went inside the various buildings on campus. Others, presuming the wailing to be the announcement of a fire drill, marched out of the buildings. Still others, not having any idea what all the noise was about, continued on their respective ways.

Those that guessed that the siren warned of a fire drill were correct. But now the questions arise. What if it had been a real air raid? What if it had been a real fire? In that event, many young men and women would have been in the wrong places at the wrong times.

We believe that there should be some difference between fire warnings and air raid warnings, and the students should be able to tell one from another. Until there is some definite distinction in these alert signals, students will not know where to go to seek safety in time of emergency.

'Behind Closed Doors'

Last week San Jose State's Spartan Daily got an undeserved kick in the teeth which should make all college newspapers wince. The American Association of University Professors on that campus voted to close its meetings to the paper's reporters. Hereafter, minutes of the association's meetings will be made available to the paper after each session.

Such action is usually justifiable only when a newspaper has consistently failed to report any group's activities accurately; no charges have been made, however, that the Spartan Daily has misquoted members of the group or used confidential material in its news columns.

The only apparent reason for the move is that the professors "claim that they do not feel free to give vent to their opinions when they realize what they say might appear in print."

The profs feel that the traditional "off the record" isn't enough protection although the paper has complied with all such requests.

It is the job of any student newspaper to give its readers accurate facts. Accuracy tends to fade a good deal when stories have to be written by reporters from material which has been selected by a second party. This kind of news coverage can be accomplished by merely maintaining a good-sized bulletin board on which selected matter can be tacked. A reporter must be present at a meeting if he is to gain a valid perspective of any action taken, or if he is to give his readers a comprehensive news story.

Closed meetings are undesirable anywhere, but they are particularly so on a college campus in a democratic country.

Members Elect Ken Azbill Spring President of IRC

Members of the International Relations Club elected Ken Azbill president for the spring semester. Azbil is a transfer student from San Mateo Junior College, where he was active as president of the Forum Club. He defeated Bill Hansen and Albert Savedra in a run-off ballot for the office, held February 25 and 26.

Elias Mani was elected vice-president. He defeated Andy Bisbee and Margie Weiss. Others elected included Fred Hodel, corresponding secretary; Charles Smith, treasurer; Jean Martin, publicity; Olivia Clement, student world affairs council; Maurice Besse, CAA; and Sahib Al-Jasim, recording secretary.

Character Notes Characters, But Neglects Own Classwork

"Ah yes," says he, "and have you ever noticed all the characters you can find in one classroom?" I replied that I hadn't and so he suggested that the next time I went to class I should look around and maybe I would see some. Well, I took his advice and I looked, and by Jimminy something or other I DID see some characters.

Now seeing these characters in a college classroom set me back a pace for I never expected to see their like in such an institution as this. There's no sense in making this a long drawn out yarn, so I figure I might as well get down to details. Well, you see, all this happened in my English class. I went to class, and I sat in the corner seat in the back row—so's I could see everything—and brother I saw.

First of all the instructor called role and then he thought he'd start class by telling a corny joke. He knew no one would laugh, but lo and behold the character in the front row starts splitting his sides. The instructor then starts his lecture and every time he lifts his head from his notes he sees another character. This guy was sitting there nodding in approval of everything the instructor said. Probably if the instructor had said that every one in the room was a jackass that guy would have nodded in approval.

By now I began to see what the person mentioned in the first paragraph was talking about. By now I had decided that there couldn't be any more characters in that classroom but was I surprised.

The prof had just finished putting over an important fact, and he wanted to know if there was any comment. So this jane (girl) sticks up her hand and asks to be heard. She was heard all right. All she did was repeat word for word what the teacher had just finished saying. By now I figure that I saw all the characters that one could possibly see. But, again I was wrong. This last character I didn't find til the end of the term, and I'll let you figure out who this character was. Well, any way those characters that I have mentioned in this story all received final grades of A. Now do you know who that last character is?—By Al Pardini.

Jacobs TKO's Foe In Novice Tourney

Merrill Jacobs, husky Gator gridder, stepped into the squared circle for the first time last Friday night at the First Annual San Jose Novice Boxing Tourney and proceeded to look like an old pro while battering his opponent, Ken Mirch, of SJS, into a technical knockout.

Jacobs, a St. Mary's transfer, stole the show insofar as State was concerned. Jerry Crowley, a slender 140 pounder, drew in an even match with Santa Clara's John Ginella. Both will meet again Friday night when Santa Clara travels to State's new gym for a night match.

Milt Swift, classy Gator 120 pounder, was decisioned by Massy Utsunomiya. Dick Kelly, 140 lbs., teammate of Jacobs, dropped a close nod to Terry Ulrich.

Fencers Defend Crown

Western Intercollegiate Championship at Stake Here Saturday; All-American Stater in Final Match

The San Francisco State fencing team will defend its Western Intercollegiate fencing championship Saturday, March 8, at the W.I.F.C. annual tournament, to be held this year at the new campus gym. Participating will be teams representing S.F.S.C., Stanford, Santa Clara, Washington State, and possibly U. S. C. and U. C. L. A.

This event will be the last in which All-American Jerry Biagini will fence for San Francisco State since he recently enlisted in the U. S. Army. Biagini is considered one of the two best fencers in the United States.

When team competition is finished, the most skillful fencers from each team will compete for the coveted W. I. F. C. individual championship.

San Francisco State will enter two groups in the tournament. The first team will be composed of Jerry Biagini, Jack Anderson, and Wendel Tyree.

The admission to the tournament will be free with no student body card needed.

The San Francisco State fencing team defeated the University of California last Friday night, 5-4.

Coach Hal Harden's swimmers will resume their season schedule this afternoon at the new campus gym pool where they will meet the University of California.

AZS Routs Hapless Delta Gamma's, 25-0

Playing in typical championship form, the Alpha Zeta Sigma "Red Terrors" trampled an inexperienced, hapless Delta Gamma Tau aggregation 25 to 0 in a speedball game played on the football field at the new campus, Thursday, February 28.

The Gators A. C. vs. St. Mary's A. C. game played Friday, February 29, was declared "no contest" because of the lack of a sufficient number of participants. This contest will be rescheduled later in the season.

This year due to the increased number of speedball teams, three intramural leagues (National, American, freshmen) have been organized according to Herb Anderson, speedball manager.

Comprising the National league are the Kappa Omegas, D.G.T.s, P. E. teachers, Balboa A. C., and Alpha Zeta Sigmas (1950 champions), while the American league is made up of the Sigma Phi Sigmas, East Bay A. C., Delta Phi Gammas, St. Mary's A. C., and the Frosh All Stars. The Freshmen league is composed of six teams: the Cubs, Bears, Eagles, Tigers, Lions, and Beavers.

This week's speedball competition will feature a giant double bill, Thursday, March 6, on the football field at the new campus. The first contest starts at 12:30 p.m., and will pit the mighty Alpha Zeta Sigmas against the untried Balboa A. C. In the second game the "dark horse" St. Mary's A. C. take on Delta Phi Gamma.

State Nine Downs San Quentin, 10-5

Coach Dick Boyle's Gator baseball squad posted a 10-5 win over the San Quentin All Stars in an exciting, evenly matched contest Saturday at San Quentin.

Chris Makras, State 3rd baseman, started the fourth inning with a single to center field that began a ten run scoring spree with Makras, Bob Arata, Chick DeLee, Bill Rudometkin, Len Cahen, Steve Driscoll, Del Young, and Sal Lenchi all scoring.

The overall appearance of the team Saturday, according to Coach Boyle, was one of improvement. The fielding was excellent with no errors being charged to the Staters, and the pitching situation was eased with the presence of McDowell, a veteran of last year's club, who held down the All Stars rally in the eighth inning.

Tuesday U.S.F. will play host to the Gator team for a game that was originally scheduled for the home diamond, but because of the condition of the backstop the tilt was transferred to the Don Campus.

Gator Swimmers Dunk Sacto. Elks

State's swimming team stroked their way to a 47-36 win over the Sacramento Elks last Friday at Sacramento.

The meet was highlighted by the closing 400 yard relay event in which Bob Knapp, Bob Northcut, Dave Deranleau, and Bob Jiminez combined their efforts to cover the distance in a sizzling 3.57:2 clock ing. The relay victory cinched State's tenuous four point lead; a Sacramento first place would have taken the meet.

Moore Places Over-Emphasis On Everyone

By Lynn Ludlow

Often forgotten in the fuss made over their bigger playmates, Joe Moore's JV hoopsters, at the season's end, quietly developed into one of the finest quintets in their class in the Bay Area. After a so-so early season, the JV's suddenly bloomed, and blasted their next seven opponents.

Functioning with precision and grace, the JV's were far more an integral unit than was State's loose-playing varsity. Center George Wehner and a slender guard, Ron Marenda, usually paced the scoring, but someone always managed to get hot.

WINNING SEASON

They finished their season with a 12-4 win-loss record. More opponents would have been scheduled had the athletic budget contained enough funds to pay the cost of referees for more games than 16.

In their season opener, against the Dow Diamonds, they looked as bad as any team we have ever seen—with the possible exception of the Diamonds, who were worse. n the Gator finale, against the Alameda NAS reserves, the JV's were everything that a top-notch team should be; they were great. The Hellcats had lost but one game previously, and that to the USF reserves by one point in overtime.

COMMON CHARACTERISTIC

We have noticed that Joe Moore's ballplayers — football and basketball—have one characteristic in common: They have fun.

Joe's basic coaching philosophy is the best reflection in practice of State's broad athletic policy of student participation in sports that we have seen. Everyone played in every game during basketball; everyone scored.

His sadly outclassed gridders dropped nearly every game by five or six TD's, but the same policy applied.

INDIVIDUAL EMPHASIS

Moore is able to place his emphasis on the individual in sports. Other coaches cannot, especially when they are under the economic need to win so often imposed on a school by a large athletic budget.

Without the pressures of the fan and the alumni, all sports might shift the emphasis back from the winning of the game to the physical advancement of the individual athlete.

Matmen Pinned By San Quentin, 25-19

In a dual meet Wednesday night San Francisco State's matmen lost to San Quentin, 24 to 19, in what proved to be a highly competitive and exciting meet.

The local grapplers close their season against the California Aggies from Davis Wednesday night, March 5, at 8 o'clock. According to Coach Verducci, it should be an evenly matched contest with the Gators out to close their season with a win.

Results of the San Quentin-State dual meet:

123 lbs—Bob Couture(SF), lost by fall to Hernandez(SQ).
137 lbs—Bill Doffi(SF), lost by decision to Vega(SQ).
147 lbs.—Bob Cunningham(SF), decisioned Chetueus(SQ)

Notes in the Dark

Current Movies

'Just This Once'

Peter Lawford and Janet Leigh star in this extremely bright and fresh comedy currently at the Golden Gate. Strictly lightweight stuff, in keeping with the first signs of spring, the plot concerns itself with a prodigal rich boy who is put under the custody of a frugal lady lawyer.

Lawford is throwing his cash around freely because it admittedly doesn't mean anything to him; Leigh, as the lawyer, resents this because she's always been poor, and money means everything to her. Of course she dresses like a fashion model, but then, as the plot outline indicates, this is an unrealistic farce which is all the more enjoyable if taken strictly at face value.

CLEVER DIALOGUE

The methods employed by the lawyer to curb the guy's easy spending provide a series of humorous incidents, sparked by unusually clever dialogue, which include his moving into her three-room apartment when she closes his expensive mansion as an economy measure. Sample of the wit: when he enters her apartment he states, "This is charming, it must have been designed by the man who did the black hole of Calcutta."

The situation is complicated by the fact that she's engaged to marry somebody else who doesn't quite approve of the housing arrangement.

It takes a good hour or so for Lawford to remove the opposition and get Leigh to realize the value of marrying a man with money, but the clinch comes on schedule.

The story is functional, the production handsome, the cast pleasant, and the over-all effect satisfying. It's foolish, but it's fun, as the saying goes.

Lawford and Leigh perform with surprising verve, while Lewis Stone and John Anderson round out a cast which is notable for uniformly good performances rather than outstanding acting.

VA Answers Vets' Questions About Recent Benefits

Veterans of World War II and the Korean War often have questions concerning benefits and services which the Veterans Administration can help them with. Below are typical questions from veterans and the answers from the V. A.:

QUESTION: Several years ago, I obtained a GI home loan when the top guarantee was $4,000. Now that the guarantee has been raised to $7,500, may I use the difference to get another GI loan to go into business?

ANSWER: The additional guarantee may be used only in connection with a GI home loan.

QUESTION: I was disabled in service in 1949. Would I be eligible for vocational training under the program that recently was set up for Korean disabled veterans?

ANSWER: No. One of the requirements of the law is that the disability must have occurred after June 27, 1950, the official date of the outbreak of Korean hostilities.

QUESTION: I intend to apply for an increase in my pension to $120 a month, since I'm so severely disabled that I need the regular aid and attendance of another person in order to get about. If the increase is granted, will it be retroactive to the date that I first got on VA's pension rolls?

ANSWER: No. If VA awards you the increase, it will become effective as of the date you filed your application.

QUESTION: I'm a Korean veteran, hospitalized for a service connected disability, and I'm now awaiting my final discharge. May I apply for vocational training available to Korean veterans?

ANSWER: Yes. Members of the armed forces hospitalized while awaiting final discharge may qualify for the training provided they meet all requirements. They may not receive subsistence payments, however, prior to actual discharge or separation.

QUESTION: I am taking a correspondence course, under the GI Bill, which I hope to finish soon. Would I be permitted to sign up for an advanced phase of the same course, also under the GI Bill, even though the 1951 cut-off date has passed?

ANSWER: Yes. But you must submit your application to VA for the advanced course before you complete your present course.
